This week in school

Welcome to the new academic year! We hope the summer was amazing for everyone. It has been wonderful to see learning get off to a great start this week with children settling quickly in their classes. I have witnessed a real positive buzz about school... long may it continue!

Curriculum Overviews:

Our class pages on the school website have been updated to include information regarding this half terms learning. To access please visit www.Astburyschool.org.uk Menu: Class Pages and enter the class password

Thank you for your patience

We switched to a new management information system during the summer, and it is safe to say that things have not gone as planned. You may have experienced issues logging into School Spider. Staff are temporarily unable to use School Spider to send you messages and updates. We are working hard to resolve these problems and hope to be back up and running soon. Thank you for your understanding and patience. Data collection forms were sent home this week; please fill them out and return them to school as soon as possible to ensure your information is current when the new system goes live.

Welcome to Astbury

Welcoming our reception children into our Astbury family. We visited Astbury Church for worship and each child received a small gift of shortbread feet. At Astbury we learn to 'Walk in love as Christ loves you', so the feet represent the first step on this journey for our new children. We also welcomed Mrs Whiston into our school family.

Fostering a love of reading

We expect all children to read at least 3 times per week at home. Ideally, reading sessions should last around 5-10 minutes. Reading should be recorded in reading diaries. Thank you for your support.

Upcoming Dates

- 17/9/25 3:30 Class Mary parents' information session
- 19/9/25 Y6 visit Congleton High School for cultural diversity day
- 22/9/25 Y6 Bikeability
- 23/9/25 Y5 Bikeability
